"SPECIAL WIRELESS" STORY EIGHT DAYS OLD

Wireless News—With the Aid of the Scissors and the Imagination

On the first page of the morning paper, there is today a 2-column photograph of "Mrs. Alice Brown," and a heading "Special to the Advertiser by Poulsten Wireless."

Under this photograph, the morning paper runs the following dispatch with the heading "Special to the Advertiser by Poulsten Wireless:"

"SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—(Special to The Advertiser by Poulsten Wireless)—Mrs. Alice Brown, accused of having bilked her adorer, David Napping, of something like $17,000, denies that she ever promised to marry him in return for the money he lavished upon her during her courtship of more than a year.

"Why, I could not have done that. I just couldn't love a farmer, not the best of them," she declared. "I should never be content with one of them. I am a city bird."

Fascinated by her charm of manner and mentality, Napping, who hails from Illinois, told the police that he had wooed Mrs. Brown for a year, having met her that long ago in San Francisco. Mrs. Brown, for a year, having met her that long ago in San Francisco.

Mrs. Brown, who was married to an insurance man, but she told Napping that she intended to secure a divorce. Their acquaintanceship developed into open courtship, and Mrs. Brown, according to Napping, finally agreed to marry him when she managed to win her freedom in the divorce court.

On the first page of the San Francisco Examiner of Wednesday, August 7, nearly ten days ago, there is a two-column photograph of Mrs. Alice Brown, and under it is the same story that is given to Honolulu's readers today as "Special wireless."

The difference is merely that of an original story and "rehash." The photograph is the same. And here is the original story printed in the Examiner:

A year of ardent courtship on the part of David Napping, a wealthy retired farmer of Farmington, Illinois, culminated yesterday morning in the arrest of Alice J. Brown, a cloak model, who was to have been his bride, but whom he now claims wheedled him out of $17,000.

The woman was arrested in Portland, Oregon. With her was George Montrose of San Francisco, who is also being held. Napping has gone back to his Illinois home, but he was advised of the woman's arrest yesterday by wire.

Detective John Nolan and James Gallagher have been searching for the woman for more than a month. One of them will go to Portland this morning to bring her back to this city, where she will be charged with grand larceny on a warrant which Napping swore to before Police Judge Shortall on June 27.

In the complaint she is accused specifically with swindling him out of $3,500, an amount which he says she promised to invest in a hotel, but which she is alleged to have pocketed. He says that at various times during his courtship he gave her $14,600 besides.

Napping is past sixty years of age. The woman is twenty-six. She is six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds. She is described as being a remarkably handsome woman.

According to the story told by Napping to the detectives, he met her more than a year ago. At that time, he says, she was separated from her husband, but not divorced.

Napping fell in love with her. He says she secured a divorce and promised to marry him when the probationary period should have expired. In the meantime they traveled together to several of the Pacific Coast cities. In Los Angeles, he says, he bought a home for her. She spent his money lavishly.

From time to time Napping says he gave her large amounts of money for different purposes. In May they returned to San Francisco. Napping stopped at the Grand Hotel. Mrs. Brown stopped at the St. Francis.

On June 20, he says, he gave her the $3,500 which she promised to invest in a hotel. The following day she did not keep her appointment. Napping began to make inquiries. He learned that she had left the city. He began to get suspicious and a few days later reported the matter to the police.

On June 27 he swore to the complaint charging her with grand larceny. He remained in the city several days hoping that Detectives Gallagher and Dolan might be able to find her. Then he returned to his home, promising to return and prosecute the woman when she should be found.

It was learned that Mrs. Brown had gone to Seattle. From there she was traced to several other cities and finally to Portland, where she was arrested yesterday.

"Silly Old Man," She Says.
PORTLAND, Ore., August 6.—"Young girls, never permit yourself to be an old man's darling. Furthermore, never glance otherwise than shyly at a man over 50 years of age, whether he be married or single. Never coquette with one; never lead one on, but most of all, never accept the attentions and presents of one."

Mrs. Alice Brown, tall, willowy and unusually pretty, who is in jail here with Robert Montrose, charged with swindling seventy-year-old David Napping, her supposed fiance, out of $3,500 and then disappearing, gave this advice tonight.

"Stay away from the old men," she said. "By an old man I mean one over 50; never that all of them are dangerous."

EWA ADVANCES M'BRYDE DROPS

Today's exchange sheet looks much like yesterday's in two particulars—a fair business in recess and board transactions confined to Brewery and Wailuku. A difference is McBryde in place of Olaa in transactions reported. McBryde fell off a quarter and Ewa advanced three-quarters, other than which there was no change in prices.

Sixty shares of Hawaiian Commercial at 44, forty of Hawaiian Sugar at 42, thirty of Wailuku at 126 1/2, eighty of McBryde at 650, ten of Ewa at 3.75, fifty-five of Brewery at 20.75 and ten of Inter-Island at 200 comprise the stocks sold, and of bonds $400 Olaa sixes at 97.50 and $10,000 Hilo Extension sixes at 94.75 changed hands.

Dividends were announced as follows: Hawaiian Sugar Co., 30, or $45.00; Oahu Sugar Co., 25c, or $62.50; Oahu Railway and Land Co., 65c, or $32.50; Pepee Sugar Co., 2, or $15,000; Wailuku Agricultural Co., $1, or $45,000; total, $200,000.

Why should I want to marry an old man? He spent considerable money on me, as he spent considerable money on other women, and he gave me many presents as he gave many presents to other women. I never had reason to believe that Daddy Napping had any great amount of money, so there you are.

"He was just a silly old man. He thought that every woman that looked at him was in love with him, yours truly included."

"Napping doesn't want to prosecute me. All he wants is me. He has told me as much. Well, he'll be badly fooled. As for the money, if he expects to get that from me he won't get that either, for I haven't it. He gave me some money, but very little. All this is just a scheme to get me."

Queen Regent Ledge Is Gaining In Width

The Values Are Also Increasing With Depth

Work Is Being Pushed

Again Mineral county comes to the front with a big strike made 18 miles east of Schurz on the property of the Queen Regent Merger Mines company. The strike is of such importance as to indicate that a new and important camp will be opened.

At a depth of 240 feet the entire width of the shaft was in ore, and at 250 feet, where an incline was started to follow the ledge, the ore is fully 12 feet wide. During the past few weeks the shaft has been sunk at the rate of 12 to 17 feet per week with one shift of men, indicating that very good progress is being made. The shaft is now over 300 feet and the ledge has very materially widened and is now about 17 feet wide, while the class and character of the ore has materially improved; assays showing all the way from $1.73 to $133.

The operations of this company have been watched with a great deal of interest, owing to the fact that they have quietly and persistently carried on development work under very trying conditions. In sinking the main shaft an enormous iron dyke was encountered which proved to be almost 100 feet thick, and sinking through this iron was slow and expensive; in fact, it has been stated that it was a little like drilling through an anvil. But at 220 feet quartz stringers began to show and much more rapid progress was made. At 230 feet three feet of quartz was showing in the shaft and at 250 feet, as stated above, the ledge was fully 12 feet wide.

Through the property runs a great hematite contact fissure showing at the surface hematite iron deposits carrying appreciable values in gold and copper. If transportation facilities were available, it is stated that this iron alone would fully finance all development work. After passing through the iron the ore was found to lie immediately beneath and from the 250 level the shaft is carried on as an incline at an angle of 45 degrees and all sinking is done in solid ore.

This important discovery has attracted the attention of capital to such an extent that the company is planning to very materially increase the working force and will put on at least two shifts of men in sinking the main shaft. At the rate they are going, they will be able to make from 120 to 150 feet per month. It is intended that sinking operations shall be carried steadily forward and that drifts will be started both ways from the shaft on the 300 level; also on the 400 when that level is reached, and block out the ore to put the mine in position for early production. The ore is free milling but plans for reduction works will not be determined until the shaft has reached a depth of 600 or 700 feet, in order to fully determine the kind of plant necessary for the reduction of the ore.

There is no doubt but that there are many properties in Mineral county that would develop into big-paying proposition if machinery equipment were installed and systematic development carried forward to reach depth. As the mining situation is improving and money becoming more readily available for the development of good properties, we believe important strikes will be made in Mineral county that will eventually make it second to none in the State of Nevada.

The above article, which recently appeared in the Western Nevada Miner, published at Mina, Mineral County, Nevada, should be of great interest to local people and especially gratifying to those who purchased shares of this company.

The great mines of Nevada are paying millions of dollars in dividends every year. This is especially true of the great camps of Tonopah and Goldfield.

Judging from the best information obtainable, the purchase of QUEEN REGENT MERGER MINES COMPANY'S stock for 7 1/2 cents per share at this time will probably result in good profits to the purchaser, not only by the increase in value of the stock, but also by dividends.

Great profits have been made in mining by those who bought shares in the beginning at a low price, and in a comparatively short time found their shares selling at many dollars per share. Such advances have laid the foundation of many a substantial fortune.

Shares of this company can be secured from
